

Bank of Astoria

Project Overview

This project has been described as “a handcrafted jewel box” of design richness and integration. - Photo Credit: Tom Bender

The Bank of Astoria represents a community’s rebellion against impersonal megabanks controlled from afar. Juror Gail Lindsey, FAIA, noted that it “goes beyond daylighting and electricity systems to address community impact related to sustainability.”

Location:

Manzanita Oregon
United States

Project Owner:

Bank of Astoria

Submitting Architect:

Tom Bender, Architect

Joint Venture or Associate Architect:

SERA Architects

Project Type:

Bank/Financial Institution

Source URL: <http://wp.aiatopten.org/node/268>