

Georgia Tech Aquatic Center

Project Overview

At the 1996 Olympic Games, the Olympic Natatorium—on the campus of the Georgia Institute of Technology—was designed to incorporate an energy-producing solar array into an existing building, showcasing advanced technology to a global audience.

Location:

Atlanta Georgia
United States

Project Owner:

Georgia Institute of Technology

Submitting Architect:

Stewart & Stewart

Joint Venture or Associate Architect:

Rosser Babrap w/ Roger Preston + Partners

Project Site:

Previously Developed Land

Project Site Context/Setting:

Urban

Other Building Description:

Renovation

Source URL: <http://wp.aiatopten.org/node/309>